

TECHNICAL SETUP: RADIX

Ideally the installation is located in a dark, quiet and intimate surrounding which allows an intense experience for the visitors. The sculpture and the projector should be placed in the inside where the visitors could see it from the inside but also from the outside, e.g. through a display window.

The wooden root sculpture must be mounted on a stable wall with two hooks. The projector is hanging from the ceiling and should not be effected by any vibrations of the surroundings. The two speakers can be placed on tripods and distributed next to the sculpture. The video and audio signal will be provided by a small media player that can be placed on top of the projector, from where it would need a cable connection to the speakers. The projector, the media player and the subwoofer each need one 220V power supply.
